Update on themes and activities is the agenda

Activities: no new plans at this point

Between now and Jan 1 Kathy will have discussions about the type of activities that are important, and who is able to help facilitate what.

Trent:

Has looked into guides to help climb the mountain.

1. Helicoptered in to a few thousand feet, then have a one day climb to the top

2. Hike starts lower, much longer and more strenuous.

50/50 chance of getting to the top of the mountain (usually based on weather)

Both of these are considered 5 day trips, but not all of that will be used for hiking. It is reserved for a longer period to account for the weather variability.

$2400 per person/ one guide for 2 climbers $3800

need 9 months to reserve the guides; 3 months previous is a 'no return' clause in the contract

Training would be intense even if you are in good shape.

Trent will make his decision by the beginning of January.

Finance committee:

No update as we haven't done anything that requires money at this time.

Trent is doing finances.

Will put out to the family an art contest to incorporate the ideas into a design

After the holidays will get out a mailer to get feedback from the family members as to which lodging site they would like to visit.

Mark K has been using blogs to get communication out and suggests using this to get ideas out and find out where people might be wanting to stay. Suggests using this regularly (once a week). Can also use myspace for this.

Simplest thing would be to have all family members join the Yahoo list-serve as it would then notify many family members.

Next call to discuss the letter to go out: Sunday, December 28 at 5pm PST/8pm EST

Mark H will send out the reminder.
